When The Power Goes Out The Lights Stay On At The Peninsula Regional Animal Shelter

Chesapeake, VA – The Peninsula Regional Animal Shelter is a 30,000 square foot state-of-the-art facility that provides animal sheltering, adoption services, individual adoption areas, a shelter clinic, a surgical center, grooming area and outside animal runs. With specific EPA emissions requirements in mind, Bay Diesel recommended going with a Generac 3 x 300 kW Modular Power System (MPS), natural gas application for this project. The benefit of going with a Modular Power System is that it will provide N+2 redundancy for the entire facility and if one engine were to fail, it would not interfere with the day to day operations of the shelter. Bay Diesel helped complete the project on time and on budget, and is proud to be apart of this new state-of-the-art facility.
